

SUMMARY OF WAGNER DISCIPLINARY REPORT

Students of NYU Wagner have joined an academic community that presumes certain behaviors and norms. As members of this community, students are expected to conduct their academic work with the highest integrity and to avoid any behaviors that jeopardize the well-being of others or disrupt educational activities. Within the past three years, written complaints were issued and formal hearings were initiated by the Wagner Disciplinary Committee for cases of academic dishonesty.

These cases resulted in at least one student receiving a failing grade and a “warning”; another student receiving two failing grades plus a one-year “suspension” from the school; and at least one other student receiving an “expulsion”— a permanent termination of a student’s status.
